

Rail interruption over the Parma / Bologna junction

July 24th 2024

Dear Customer,

With reference to the railway accident occurred on Thursday 11th July evening on the Parma / Bologna rail junction, please be informed that the area has now been released by Authorities.

Still there isn't any official notice on the above, however that should take some 4 / 5 days for a full reopening because of the refurbishment works and necessary surveys.

Being the junction crucial for the rail corridors over Padova and Modena area, still there will be trains cancellations until the reopening, as tracks will not be accessible during the civil works.

We will keep you posted about developments: please do not hesitate to contact our dedicated customer service team at italy@service.hlaq.com if you require further clarification.

Thank you for your continued support.

Kind regards

Hapag-Lloyd (Italy)
